AN IRISHMAN

Built New York's Great Subway, the Biggest Piece of Work Undertaken.

Congratulated On All Sides For Successfully Carrying Out Great Enterprise.

Nothing Like It in All the World and It Cost Over $50,000,000.

SOME LOCAL IRISH CONTRACTORS

Irishmen are the greatest contractors in this country. They build more roads, bridges, canals and public buildings than any other race of men. It was an Irishman, John McGillicuddy, who built the Louisville and Portland canal nearly three quarters of a century ago, and another Irishman, Frank McHerry, enlarged it. It is one of the greatest canals in the West in point of tonnage passing through its locks at the foot of the falls of the Ohio river.

The stone work on the first bridge to span the Ohio river at Louisville, and there are twenty-nine massive stone piers, was done by an Irishman, James O'Connor, who is still alive, and who has built many stone bridges in Europe and Australia. The third bridge across the Ohio, now owned by the Big Four railroad, was projected by Dennis Long and financed by him. Had he not backed the enterprise, the bridge would never have been built.

The completion of the Subway—the great underground railway system that is to relieve New York City of its congested traffic—calls attention to the striking personality of the wonderful man who conceived and carried out the vast undertaking, John B. McDonald.

The Subway is the greatest feat of engineering skill ever carried out on the western continent, and the greatest of its kind in the history of the world. When the time came to begin the work, it seemed to be generally conceded that in all America one man so pre-eminently qualified to carry it to a successful completion that no other was seriously considered, and that man, the son of an Irish peasant, is an illustrious example of the saying, "this world is as good as his bond," for through the Subway involved an expenditure of fifty millions of dollars, no bond was exacted of Mr. McDonald.

It was a giant undertaking; more than twenty miles of underground railroad. Who was to build it? The man to take the contract must have practically unlimited capital; must have the ability to handle men, a thorough knowledge of the work in all its branches, a personality with which the Rapid Transit Commissioners and their engineers might be in accord and a reputation for big work well done. Besides all that, it was necessary for him to have the courage to risk all, facing obstacles that had never before confronted contractor or engineer.

In a recent issue of the New York World several pages are devoted to the history of the subway, of which every citizen of Greater New York is proud. On the completion of the work great capitalists congratulated Mr. McDonald. He is a man of few words. He simply said:

"There is nothing like the New York subway in all the world," he said. "I am proud of the work. I don't think I would feel any prouder if I was President of the United States. The work has turned out even better than I expected and but that we have had two years of labor conditions hitherto unknown in this country the subway would have been finished more than a year ago."

Besides this work, Mr. McDonald helped build the Great Croton Dam for the New York Water Works System. He is now recognized as the greatest contractor in this country.

John B. McDonald was born in the town of Fermoy, in the County of Cork, Ireland, in 1844, and was brought to this country three years later. His father, a hard-working peasant, who could trace his forefathers back to the early history of Ireland, found the land rent laws too oppressive and came to New York as an immigrant seeking work. He left his family behind him and he got work in the rock cut of the Hudson River railroad, where he earned seventy-five cents a day. He sent for his brother, and the two worked together on the same job. They lived frugally and saved money. Then they sent for their relatives in Ireland. That was how the builder of the rapid transit subway reached New York. He was a baby in arms then. The family lived in a little frame house at Fort Washington. Young John grew up no different from the boys of the other families around him, except that he was never known to lie and there was no lad of his age or near his age who could thrash him or outgame him at any of the boyish sports of those days.

He learned to read and write in the Hamilton free school, a wooden shanty supported by private benevolence. When he got old enough he went to a public school. He wasn't satisfied with the progress he made and walked every night two miles to a night school. What he learned there was all the educational preparation he had for his future career as the foremost contractor in the United States, probably in the world.

GOOD EXAMPLE

Of Christian Life Left by Mrs. Michael Flanagan, Who Died Saturday.

Early on Saturday morning the last volume of one of the most beautiful lives in our midst was closed in the death of Mrs. Michael Flanagan, which occurred at her home after a long and trying illness, surrounded by the loving ministrations of her devoted loved ones. At the opening of the lovely days of golden October, amid millions and millions of roses, as a shower of roses deluging Our Rosary Queen, her gentle soul, purified by long suffering, winged its way to the Sacred Heart, there to enjoy forever the sweet rest for which she had so earnestly and faithfully labored. Mrs. Flanagan was a prominent member of St. Louis Bertrand's church, identifying herself with its every interest and edifying all by her saintly life, so exemplary in the practice of every virtue. The memory of her bright example will ever shine over the congregation with all the brilliance of the broad noonday sunlight, luring others on to the goal—heaven's happiness.

Self-sacrificing and generous, she always had the open hand of cleverness extended, no matter what inconvenience to herself, and so unostentatiously that her right hand knew not what her left was doing. The ideal wife and devoted mother, her highest happiness was found in the home circle, brightened with her sunny face, which ever shone as its beautiful guiding star, and sweetened with her great tender heart, holding all within it that an unspokeable love which springs spontaneously from it. A loyal friend, amiable and gentle, she endeavored herself to all with whom she came in contact. To know her was to love her, and her untimely death is generally deplored.

Mrs. Flanagan was a native of Galway, Ireland, and coming to America in childhood, almost her entire life was spent in Louisville. She was the mother of Mr. Thomas Flanagan, Mrs. Peter Jennings, the Misses Mary, Nellie, Birdie and Annie Flanagan, a sister of Mr. Peter Sweeney, of Covington; Mrs. E. Morgan and the late Michael Sweeney, of this city.

The funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand church on Monday morning, with solemn high mass, and was one of the largest ever witnessed there. Rev. Father Lawler paid a high tribute to the Christian character of the deceased in a beautiful eulogy gracefully delivered. The following life long friends acted as pall-bearers: John Martin, John Divensay, James Wolfe, Pat Glynn, Michael Hogan, Dan Scanlon, Tom Hallinan and Michael Collins.

The floral tributes were very handsome and numerous. The bereaved family has the deepest sympathy of a large circle of friends who can not find words sweet or tender enough for them in their great sorrow—the awful farewell of death—death of a mother, wife and sister. "Bright as a star is the record we hold, In heaven she enjoys her hundred-fold."

VERY FORTUNATE.

Not a Single Member on the Sick List in Trinity Council.

At the regular meeting of Trinity Council Monday evening the Visiting Committee reported the unique fact that not a single member of the council was on the sick list. The Entertainment Committee announced that every thing was progressing nicely for the free literary and musical entertainment to be given by the council on Wednesday evening, November 16. They are arranging a programme which they hope will prove a credit to the council.

Dr. F. S. Clark made a short address on the local Catholic federation, saying from present indications, that it will be only a question of a short time when every Catholic society in the city will have affiliated, as there have been several applications lately.

TRINITY AUXILIARY DANCE.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Council, Y. M. I., will entertain with a select dance at Fountain Park on Thursday evening, October 27. The ladies' auxiliary, under the leadership of President Miss Mamie Kiley, is making rapid strides in membership lately, and are also obtaining a reputation for the successful social affairs they give. It goes without saying that the above dance will be a worthy successor to past affairs in that line.

LIKED IRISH EXHIBIT.

Charles Ralby, the well known West End letter carrier, will arrive home today after a ten days' visit to the World's Fair. Mr. Ralby wrote that he was especially pleased with the Irish exhibit, and was seriously thinking of asking one of the pretty Irish colleens in charge of the exhibit to accompany him home.

COLGAN HONORED.

At the meeting of the Y. M. I. Supreme Council, which was held at Colorado Springs during the past week, Harry T. Colgan, of Satoli Council, was appointed as Chairman of the Finance Committee and also a member of the Committee on Arbitration.

DESCRIPTION

Of World's Fair as Seen by Student of Nazareth Academy.

Considers It One of the Grandest Exhibitions She Ever Witnessed.

Proud of the Kentucky Building, Especially For Its Hospitality.

TELLS OF NAZARETH DAY EXERCISES

The following description of the St. Louis World's Fair was written by Miss Katie Putnam, a student of Nazareth Academy, to be used as a class exercise.

Reviewing the scenes that have passed before my gaze within the last week, in fancy I am borne back to the grand exposition grounds of the World's Fair at St. Louis. Very few can draw an exact picture of anything so sublime as the enchanting scene presented to our view. In the opinion of those whose wisdom and experience claim our deference, the Louisiana Purchase Exposition excels all previous efforts in this direction.

It occupies 1,240 acres of a most beautiful park and is the only fair in which hills have helped the picturesque effect. In addition to the massive handsome buildings, the out-door sights comprise sculptural decorations, water courses, gardens, including the cascades, lagoons and the Louisiana Purchase Monument. The exquisite floral designs are perhaps the most prominent and novel features of the ornamentation, being composed of every imaginable flower that grows. The floral clock and the rose garden are extensively admired. The latter covers ten acres and in its borders are growing thousands of rose bushes, clothed in the gorgeous tints of more than a million blossoms. These designs we considered the perfection of artistic beauty, until we beheld the sparkling, glittering, ever-changing loveliness of the cascades.

While gazing upon this magnificent panorama we were roused to still greater admiration when the soft, entrancing music from festival hall mingled its sweet, soothing airs harmoniously with the flowing waters of the brilliantly lighted cascades.

The Palace of Fine Arts, the only permanent building on the grounds, is truly a rare specimen of architectural skill and beauty. The galleries designed for the display of paintings in oil are provided with a sky-light, the ceilings being constructed of cathedral glass. Thirty-two of these are devoted to American paintings and industrial art. We were agreeably surprised to see our own country with her exhibits standing prominent among the nations of the world. Germany's display in this building is considered superior to all others.

The Government and Agricultural Buildings are of special interest and importance. The Palace of Forestry, Fish and Game, and the Varied Industries Buildings, are full of objects to delight both mind and sense.

Among the many State buildings we had the pleasure of visiting, "Our New Kentucky Home" proved to us the most interesting, as its hospitable halls seemed to bid us as a warm welcome, and its spacious and beautifully furnished apartments gave the Nazareth Alumnae an elegant place in which to celebrate the long anticipated "Nazareth Day."

The memory of this event will ever be tenderly cherished by all whose good fortune it was to be present, as one of the most delightful experiences of their lives.

On this occasion the Most Rev. J. J. Glennon, Archbishop of St. Louis, honored us by delivering an appropriate and touching address.

Our own dear Governor, Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, added his meed of congratulation and praise. Both discourses called forth enthusiastic and sincere applause.

The Rev. L. W. Mulhane, of Ohio, after greeting the Alumnae, and encouraging their devotion to Alma Mater, gave an eloquent lecture on the interesting and all-absorbing topic of woman's Christian education.

The pleasure of the day was not a little increased by the presence of our good friend and former Chaplain, Rev. W. Hogarty, and other priests from Kentucky, whose attendance showed their interest in our Alma Mater.

Music and addresses from some of Nazareth's children made up the delightful programme of entertainment. At its close dainty refreshments were served, and all voted the day to have been a perfect one.

In the midst of so much pleasure we could scarcely realize that our visit was drawing to a close, yet so swiftly day stole upon day, and night upon night, that ere we were fully aware, we found ourselves again at Nazareth, in our "Old Kentucky Home."

NEW ALBANY NOTES.

Bazars For St. Mary's Church on the Knobs—Other News.

Commencing tomorrow a bazar for the benefit of the building fund for St. Mary's Church on the Knobs will begin at the school hall of the church, near Mooreville. Father Hillebrand, the pastor of the church, has been preparing for the event for some time, and has personally invited a large number of his friends in Louisville, Jeffersonville and New Albany to be with him at least one day or evening between October 16 and 21, inclusive. Dinner and supper will be served afternoon and night. Wagons will carry people from New Albany, Louisville and Jeffersonville to the bazaar, leaving the corner of State and Spring streets every evening at 6 o'clock, returning at 10:30 o'clock. The drive is a pleasant one. The proceeds of the bazaar will be devoted to the building of the new church which Father Hillebrand proposes to erect on the site of historic St. Mary's.

Miss Julia Imogene Penn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Penn, 1802 East Main street, who left her home to enter the convent of the Sisters of Charity at Nazareth, Ky., about one month ago as a postulante, intending to qualify herself for hospital work in nursing the sick, has been compelled by failing health to forego her purpose for the present and withdraw from the convent and return to her home, where she will remain until her health is fully restored, when she will again take up her purpose of passing her life in works of charity and mercy for the afflicted and unfortunate. Miss Penn is a member of Holy Trinity Catholic church, this city, and a young woman of culture and social accomplishments. Her purpose has long been to devote her life to hospital work and such other work of charity as might come to her. Miss Penn is a convert to Catholicity.

Mr. Joseph Bruns and Miss Josephine Harrington were married in St. Joseph's church, Indianapolis, on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Bruns is prominent in Catholic society circles and is a trustee of Holy Trinity church. The couple will live at 312 East Market street after their wedding tour. Mr. Bruns is a member of the firm of Knisirim & Bruns, prominent real estate agents.

C. K. OF A.

Insurance Rerating Question as Viewed by Charles N. Jacques.

Believes It Will Drive Out Old Members and Kill the Order.

His Opinion As To How It Will Work Despite Other Explanations.

INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS TUESDAY

Members of the Catholic Knights joined the order believing their insurance certificate was a contract binding them to pay the stated assessments and the order to pay the stated insurance. The assessments have been changed and a sinking fund provided heretofore, after discussion and with consent of the members. Further changes were proposed, discussed for a year before the last Supreme Council, which body, failing to agree, referred the matter to the officers to report thereon to the next Supreme Council in May, 1905. Ah! but the "actuary" points out the order is on the verge of ruin, and immediate action is necessary. So a special Supreme Council is called—not by election, but of the members of the last council, whose terms expired with the adjournment of that body, a fact which caused many not to attend, and which rendered the action of the special meeting nil. But the "actuary" quotes a decision of an Illinois court that a benefit certificate is not a contract binding the fraternal order, though it does bind the member. The member must pay what the order decrees, but the order may pay what it pleases. With this as a basis, and threatened bankruptcy as an incentive, the "actuary" with his "figures," "schedules," "options," "black board demonstrations," explained for two days to the befuddled delegates, and they "unanimously approved" what no one understands, and the more it is explained the less you know about it—except as the C. K. A. Journal, after three months' fumbling and correcting, gives a summary of tables showing that all members' assessments are to be doubled, trebled, quadrupled, or under the "option" they may pay a smaller increase by forfeiting one-third of their insurance if they die before sixty-five years of age, and all of it if they live beyond that age.

To illustrate: In my case the certificate calls for $2,000 on payment of eighty cents per assessment, subsequently changed to $1.50, limited to two assessments monthly—positively no extras, a promise repeatedly violated. Now I am, per the "rerate," to pay for this year $7.12 per month, next year $7.48 per month, and on up, year by year, to $10.36 per month if I live to seventy. Or under the "option": I am to pay $3.60 per month this year, $3.74 next year, with yearly increase to $4.40 at sixty years to seventy-five—but to get this "option" I must agree to accept $1,333 instead of $2,000 in case of death before I reach sixty-five. If I live to sixty-five I get nothing, as "at the age of sixty-five the same will cease and discontinue."

And the "delegates" unanimously approved this. The members are dubious—but they must pay or quit, for President Gaudien officially announces that "a calamity exists," the sinking fund is to be drawn on for four assessments, and "positively" the new rate must be paid and "be in Supreme Treasurer's office on or before November 15," "branches failing to comply will be suspended forthwith" without notice or parley—a fate which (unless enjoined by legal process) awaits many C. K. of A., including Yours truly, C. N. JACQUES, Branch 14.

Dr. Felix Gaudien, Supreme President of the C. K. of A., will arrive in the city Monday, and will go from here to Lebanon to testify in the injunction proceedings concerning rerating. Henry C. Hoemer, State President of the C. K. of A., was here during the past week in the interest of the order, and also to visit his brother-in-law, Joseph Buschermohle, who has been seriously ill.

FITZ A POPULAR CAMPAIGNER.

Former Alderman James J. Fitzgerald, the well known attorney, made a speech at the opening of the campaign in Jackson county, Ind., at Seymour, a few weeks ago. Since then his services as campaign orator have been in great demand in Indiana, and the State Central Committee has sent for him repeatedly. Mr. Fitzgerald also spoke at Jeffersonville and pleased the Democrats of Clark county. He will probably make other speeches in Hoosierdom if he can spare the time between now and November 8.

NEW MERCHANT TAILOR.

Daniel J. Hennessy, formerly connected with Levy Bros., has opened a tailoring establishment at 294 West Main street, and invites his many friends and acquaintances to give him a trial. Dan is a tailor of experience, which, combined with his courteous demeanor, will no doubt serve to help him build up a successful business.

JEFFERSONVILLE NEWS.

Items of Interest From Our Sister City Across the River.

Construction work on St. Augustine's new church is progressing satisfactorily and the building will be completed in time to hold services there this winter. The new church will be the prettiest edifice in Southern Indiana. It is of pressed brick, with stone trimmings. Father O'Connell, rector of St. Augustine's, is receiving felicitations from his fellow-clergymen and others who have inspected the new structure.

A jury in the Clark Circuit Court has awarded County Treasurer Bernard A. Coll, $2,000 damages against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Mr. Coll purchased a round trip ticket from Jeffersonville to Indianapolis on May 23 to attend the Democratic convention. When he presented the return coupon to the ticket agent at the Union station in Indianapolis to be validated for return, the agent accused him of being an imposter and when he tried to enter the train shed he was threatened with arrest and subjected to other indignities. The jury awarded Mr. Coll exemplary damages in the sum of $2,000. Notice of an appeal was given by the attorney for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Col. James M. Marshall, Depot Quartermaster at the Western Arsenal here, has been notified that the Quartermaster's Department will make 10,000 soldiers' shirts at the depot here. This will be good news for the sewing women about the Falls Cities. Col. Marshall believes that this depot should continue to make army clothing, as a better class of work is done here than under contract in the East, where the sewing is done in sweat shops. An effort will be made to have sewing resumed here permanently. Congressman Zeno and the Republican Senators are interesting themselves in the work.

THE IRISH LEAD.

Some Athletic Records Now Held By Native Sons of Erin.

From the recent showing of the Irish athletes at the World's Fair contests, it is now conceded on all sides that the Irish as athletes are in a class by themselves. The following is a list of our leading Irish athletes and the records they hold:

Peter O'Connor, running broad jump, 24 feet, 11 1/4 inches; Daniel Shanahan, running hop, step and jump, 50 feet, 3/4 inch; M. F. Sweeney, running high jump, 6 feet, 5 1/2 inches; S. J. Chandler, three standing jumps, 38 feet, 10 inches; John Flanagan, 16-pound hammer throw, 171 feet, 9 inches, and the 56-pound weight throw, 38 feet, 9 1/2 inches; James Mitchell, 66-pound hammer throw (with unlimited run) 38 feet, 5 inches; Denis Iorgnan, 16-pound shot put, 48 feet, 2 inches; John J. Holloway holds record as pole vaulter, and last but not least, Thomas F. Kiley, the athletic marvel of the century, who hails from Tipperary, holds eighty championships and has won 1500 prizes. At St. Louis, Kiley won the title of all-around world's champion.

COL. KELLY GETS PLACE.

Col. Robert M. Kelly has been appointed Superintendent of the Federal Soldiers' National Cemetery in Cave Hill and will assume his duties today. Col. Kelly has been living at the Soldiers' Home at Marion, Ind. for nearly a year. He was formerly Pension Agent for Kentucky and for years was editor of the Louisville Commercial. Col. Kelly is an able man and has many warm friends all over the State. He is really deserving of a better place at the hands of the government as he was a brave soldier during the civil war.

GOING TO ROME.

Right Rev. Bishop Francis Silas Chastard, of the diocese of Indianapolis, is going to Rome to pay his respects to Pope Pius X. The Bishop will be accompanied by his Secretary, Father Chastard, and they will sail from New York October 22. Bishop Chastard was formerly President of the American College in Rome, having succeeded Bishop McCloskey in that office. Of late years the Bishop has been in poor health. Bishop O'Donoghue attends to most of the duties of the office.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY BALL.

The Louisville Printing Pressmen's Union will give their tenth annual ball at Liederknau Hall, Monday evening, November 14. The committee in charge are A. J. Koertner, F. H. Buzan, C. E. Bickett, H. C. Cathol, H. C. Searle, V. B. Smith, John Meyer, William Ram-macher, Ben Wibbles, Sam Kester, Geo Oppenheimer, Ben Tolson, A. L. York and Joseph Sterner.

DESERVES VACATION.

Louis Borntraeger, the well known letter carrier, in company with his wife and child, will leave Wednesday for a ten days' visit to Cincinnati and Newport. Wednesday will be the first day of Mr. Borntraeger's annual furlough and he has the wishes of his many friends for a pleasant vacation, which he certainly deserves.

IRISH IRE

Aroused by Efforts of Roosevelt Agents to Deliver Irish Vote.

Unscrupulous Efforts of Men Who Claim to Possess Influence Exposed.

New York Paper Scores Methods of Alleged Vote Deliverers.

THE IRISH VOTE IS UNCONTROLLED

That representative Irish-Americans are much offended by the efforts of "certain friends" of President Roosevelt to "deliver the Irish-American vote" is shown by the following editorial which appeared in the Gaelic American, the official organ of the United Irish Societies of New York. The Gaelic American, representing an organization in which there are Republicans and Democrats and Independents, is absolutely independent in American politics. The editorial is headed, "No Irish Vote For Sale." It is as follows:

The pocket-book patriot is not guided by any higher principle than mere gain, and in the present campaign he is particularly shameless and mercenary. He has not even attempted to give any excuse or justification for his support of the party responsible for John Hay, the high priest of an Anglo-American alliance. According to the New York Sun, John Hay will be retained at his present post should his party be victorious at the polls. The self-seeking patriots, the weekly organs—Irish and Catholic—which had been for seven years denouncing the pro-English policy of Hay have been silenced by a liberal slice of the campaign funds. Graft has bused their protests, and they are now sounding the praises of the nominee who has retained Anglo-Saxon John as his Secretary of State.

The Catholic weeklies that have succumbed to mammon no longer display pictures depicting American soldiers desecrating Catholic churches in the Philippines. The Irish-Americans are responsible for the Irish weekly and the Catholic weekly contemptibles. It would be well to make it plain, however, that those sheets represent nobody but the men who run them as a means of making a shady livelihood. Most of the so-called Irish weeklies are a disgrace to journalism. The "religious" weeklies are almost as bad. It is time to disabuse the minds of the Catholics who imagine that the five cents they pay for the "Catholic" paper is given to the church. It must be understood that those papers are private enterprises, and that in nearly every instance they have not even church sanction. The individuals who are responsible for them are neither learned nor religious. As a matter of fact, very few of the knaves who prostitute religion to private gain would pass a creditable examination in the Catechism of Catholic doctrine.

The Irish vote is not now, nor has it ever been, for sale. The sham patriots can make no return for their share of the spoils, and the organs whose only visible means of subsistence comes from the campaign funds can not be said to be worthy of their hire.

It is indeed humiliating to Irishmen whose pride of race has not been blunted by avarice to see the sacred cause of Irish nationality dragged into the mire of every Presidential campaign. The cause of Ireland is introduced not to forward the interests of Ireland, but in order that the self-seeking patriot may obtain a large slice of the campaign funds and that his friends may obtain the spoils of office.

The man who is willing, for his own profit and aggrandizement, to drag the cause of Ireland into American politics is devoid of honor or truth or patriotism. This man has his price, and he would betray every trust and prove traitor to every cause.

Of course no intelligent Irishman will depart from his political affiliations at the bidding of the revenue-seeking patriots. It is unfortunate, however, that a section of the people of this country believe otherwise, and the large appropriation of $150,000 from the campaign fund of one of the great political parties for the purchase of self-styled leaders, Irish weekly and Catholic weekly contemptible, is proof that a belief prevails that the political adherence of our race is in the market and that it will go to the highest bidder.

FRANK'S NEW POSITION.

Frank McDonough has been engaged by the Diller-Bennett Furniture Company to take charge of their sales department. Frank is one of the best known young business men on Main street, and the Diller-Bennett Company are fortunate in securing his services.

SEWER QUESTION NOT POLITICAL.

The decision of the Board of Trade and Commercial Club to discuss the proposed bond issue for sewer purposes is right and proper. This question will be submitted to the people of Louisville on November 8: "Are you in favor of a bond issue of $3,500,000 for the construction of sewers and the reconstruction of streets?"

Publicity does not hurt any fair proposition, and the people are entitled to know all about the bond issue before they vote for or against the measure. The Mayor, City Engineer and Board of Public Works met this week with the commercial bodies to discuss the subject. Further conferences will be held later.

There is a large section of Louisville without any drainage, and a still larger section without adequate sewers, the present ones being too small to carry off the water. It is folly to talk of building sewers out of the tax levy which is made annually. It would be unfair to make this generation pay for sewers for the benefit of future generations. A bond issue seems to be the only solution of the difficulty. Louisville can never be a clean city or a healthful city without adequate sewers to carry off the sewage as well as the storm water. New Orleans spent $17,000,000 for new sewers and Memphis over $7,000,000 in the past few years. Since sewers were constructed in these cities the death rate has decreased fully 20 per cent. and many manufacturing factories have been established. There are those who oppose the bond issue because they do not believe in increasing the city's debt. Louisville has less bonded debt than any city of its size in the country, and this objection is not well taken. There are others who fear that the money will be wasted. We believe in the integrity of Mayor Grainger, Chief Engineer Breed and the Board of Works, but these officials will not have the spending of all the money. It will take two or three years to construct the proposed sewers, and the contracts will be let publicly to the lowest and best bidders. There is no evidence that there will be any "graft" connected with the scheme. The Kentucky Irish American has long favored the construction of more sewers in justice to the small taxpayers in the outlying districts.

If sewers are not built now by a bond issue the law may be changed by the Legislature and the abutting property owners will have to pay for sewers like they pay for original street construction and the small tax-payer could not stand this tax.

FOR UNIVERSAL PEACE.

The International Peace Congress which was in session in Boston for ten days has adjourned after issuing a strong appeal in a few words to all the nations of the earth for universal peace. That a few crowned heads and a lot of unscrupulous politicians in this enlightened age can bring about war at their sweet will and force their subjects into armies to be slaughtered like dogs is a sad commentary on the intelligence of the masses. As the appeal says all classes ought to arouse themselves as to a proper conception of their rights in order that they may no longer be involved without their consent in foolish and ruinous wars.

The appeal issued by the Peace Congress is so concise and sensible that it is published below in full:

"The congress at the conclusion of its deliberations appeals to the peoples of all nations and of all classes to arouse themselves to a finer and more adequate conception of their rights in the determination of the foreign policies pursued by their Governments, that they may no longer be involved without their consent in foolish and ruinous wars with other Powers or in the unjust exploitation of those whom they are bound by every consideration of righteousness and honor to assist and elevate rather than to plunder and degrade. It respectfully invites all the national sovereigns and Presidents, all ministers of religion, all instructors of youth in schools of every grade and all others who wield influence in the molding and directing of public opinion to throw the entire weight not only of their personal influence, but of their positions toward eradicating the causes of misunderstanding and conflict and the creation of such a complete system of international adjudication and such a wide reaching pacific public sentiment as will in time render the barbarous methods of war impossible."

A QUIET CAMPAIGN.

The national and State election is but a month distant and the prediction that this would be a quiet campaign is being realized. There is no excitement or interest, compared with the campaign of 1896 and 1900, when the money question was an issue. After all, it is well that there is little excitement. The less men's minds are influenced by the accompaniments of a campaign the more likely they are to vote intelligently. When the millions of American voters exercise their sober judgment at the polls the result will not be far wrong.

Here in Louisville and in Kentucky there is little need for excitement or a hurrah campaign, as it is evident that the party in power will win by a large majority. The Republican party is discouraged in this State.

In the close States Democrats are claiming an angury of success in the fact that the campaign is being waged quietly. They say it means a heavy vest pocket vote and a drift from the administration. They argue that the Republicans only win in hurrah campaigns.

The campaign thus far has been conducted with dignity and freedom from bitter personal attacks on the candidates, the absence of mudslinging and other tricks to deceive the voters.

During the remaining thirty days the campaign is likely to live up particularly in Indiana and New York. In Indiana both parties are making a desperate struggle. William Jennings Bryan is the attraction in the Hoosier State just now. He began his campaign on Wednesday at Indianapolis and was given a great ovation. He will be in New Albany on the evening of the 20th and will leave Louisville on the evening of that day for West Virginia, returning to Indiana on the 24th or 25th. Mr. Bryan will spend tomorrow at French Lick Springs, where he will confer with National Chairman Thomas Taggart.

Bourke Cockran will speak at Indianapolis on the night of November 5, and arrangements are being made to give him an ovation at the close of the Indiana campaign on that night.

What will they do next in non-Catholic pulpits to attract crowds? A dispatch from Topeka, Kas., says: "The Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, author of 'In His Steps,' will read a series of short stories to his congregation this fall and winter. It has been his custom to begin reading an original serial story in the fall and close it before the end of the year. He believes the short story will be more popular." Parson Sheldon can do no great harm in reading a novel to his congregation. It is better than talking politics or abusing the Pope. "Flirting can be carried on in church to good advantage," says Rev. M. B. Williams, Chairman of the Committee on Sabbath Observance of the Rock river conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Good Lord! said the woodchuck, and away he flew. What next?

The Democratic party in Kentucky has officially repudiated the course of Lieut. Gov. William P. Thorne in pardoning the murderer Buchter. All the speaking engagements of Thorne have been cancelled. The party owes the people more than that, however. There should be an official investigation made of what influences were brought to bear to induce the Acting Governor to grant the pardon. If the Acting Governor was deceived by lawyers or the relatives of the murderer, it should be made public. If money was corruptly used, the facts should be laid bare. Gov. Beckham owes it to the people to have this case thoroughly investigated and all the facts relating to the pardon brought out let it hurt whom it may.

A special dispatch from Jackson, Ky., says that Mr. Moses Feltner, when arrested at that place on Sunday last, had five pistols on his person. He was released on bond by Judge James Hargis, but nothing was done toward prosecuting him for carrying concealed deadly weapons. It is no wonder that bloodshed is so common in Kentucky when men are allowed to roam around with arsenals on their persons. In Louisville pistol carrying is common, but few men have as many as five guns in their pockets at one time.

The Democrats of Louisville and Jefferson county owe it to Judge O'Doherty to elect him by a large majority. He is the peer of any man on the bench in this county or State. The Judge is receiving the hearty support of the party organization, but his personal friends should not relax their efforts in his behalf until the close of the polls on November 8. Louisville and Jefferson county needs more Judges like Matt O'Doherty.

ECONOMY AT VATICAN.

Pope Plus Abandons Escort and Other Expenses to Save Money.

A cablegram from Rome to the New York Sun says: The Pope is instituting economies at the Vatican. He has abandoned his escort of honor during his walks, has ordered the horses of the Noble Guard to be sold, and has directed that the collection of birds in the gardens be maintained no longer. His predecessor possessed various kinds of pheasants and ostriches of many rare species.

Pope Pius X. thought that it was too costly to support these luxuries and ordered them distributed to various institutions. He thought also that the expense of keeping up the gardens was too heavy, and some parts which are now devoted to flowers will be turned into meadow lands.

Miss Margaret Coyne, a seamstress, died Thursday morning at her home, 804 First street. The funeral took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the Cathedral of the Assumption, of which the deceased was a faithful member.

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Ahlers, who died Monday afternoon, took place from St. Peter's church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased was a widow of the late John Ahlers, and was beloved by all who knew her. The interment was in St. Michael's cemetery.

Mrs. Lillian Berger, widow of the late Edward Berger, died Tuesday morning. The funeral took place from her father's residence, Mr. Frank Henry, 2104 Portland avenue, Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and from St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock, with a requiem mass for the repose of her soul. The interment was in St. Michael's cemetery.

This is the season of the year when the women decorate their homes with golden rods and fall leaves.

SHALL WE MEET AGAIN?

"It may be for years and it may be for ever" is the echoing knell—
God pity me—we parted yesterday—
To our heart's harmony farewell.

Will the years as they glide along
Bring us the sunshine of meeting,
Or must we sing the "grand sweet song"
Forever without another greeting?

Will I return to dear old home
With laurel wreath upon my head?
Will you be there or gone off to roam
In other lands or—among the dead?

Burning tears blind my eyes,
Love's kiss, sweeter than the rose,
Seals my vow, O, star-lit skies!
Shall we meet again? God knows!

FOR BOND ISSUE.

Board of Trade Approves the Pending Ordinance For More Sewers.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade held on Wednesday the subject of a bond issue was fully discussed, and little opposition was developed. The only opposition came from P. C. Nunemacher, A. J. Brandels and W. B. Belknap. All the leading members of the board except these three agreed that the city was badly in need of sewers and that the only way to secure the construction was through a bond issue of $3,500,000. Of this sum $500,000 is to be used for street reconstruction. The committee appointed to investigate the bond issue and to confer with the Mayor was made up of Theodore Ahrens, President of the board; Alvah L. Terry and J. W. Kennedy. This committee made a report fully approving the pending ordinance and recommending that the people vote for the proposition on November 8. After the report was read a vote was taken and the proposition was carried. The action of the Board of Trade will no doubt have a good effect in carrying the measure.

TRIBUTE TO EDITORS.

Pope Plus in Recent Address
Shows Himself a Friend of the Journalists.

"There is no more sublime mission in the world than that of a true newspaper man. I have blessed the symbol of your profession, as my predecessor blessed the sword and other weapons of Christian warriors, and I deem myself fortunate to be permitted to ask the blessing of Heaven upon the pen of a Catholic writer."

The Pope delivered these words when he received Signor Razetti, a Roman editor, one day last week.

Razetti had begged permission to put down the message the Pope sent to his Catholic readers, and the reporter was using an American fountain pen. The Pope had never seen one of that sort and examined it closely. "Very interesting," he said, "and very important for the welfare of the nations."

Then the Pope blessed the pen, and, returning it to Signor Razetti, made the observations above quoted. The Pope's tribute to newspaper men will be appreciated all over the world by non-Catholic as well as Catholic writers.

ENTERS THE MONASTERY.

On the eve of the election, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's favorite nephew, Romauld Laurier, whose father is the member of Parliament for l'Assomption, left the world and entered the Dominican monastery at St. Hyacinthe. He is only twenty-four years old, a brilliant student in medicine at Laval University and possessed of a fine baritone voice.

TURKEY AT THE VATICAN.

Diplomatic relations will be established soon between Turkey and the Vatican, under the auspices of the Kaiser, France ceasing to represent the Vatican at Constantinople. The Sultan has conferred the grand Cordon of the Order of the Medjidie upon Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, and on Cardinal Gotti.

ELECTOR ALREADY.

The Democrats are to have at least one electoral vote from California, no matter how the voters cast their ballots. Frank Marion Smith, one of the Republican nominees for elector, is not a voting citizen. He is known as the Borax King of Death Valley, but he has no more right to be an elector than the deceased Akhond of Swat. Smith was nominated at the Republican convention with due formality. He is interested in a high protective tariff, because boracic acid is one of the articles on the protected list. It was estimated that he would give at least $5,000 to the Republican campaign fund. It has been ascertained that Smith is not on any register as a citizen of California, and registration has closed. His home is supposedly in Oakland, although he runs an automobile around New York. He has also twenty-five teams at the St. Louis Fair to advertise his borax mines.

ENTERTAINED.

A delegation of Boston Knights of Columbus, on their way home from the World's Fair, were entertained by the local Knights Thursday evening, a reception and dance being given at the Galt House in their honor. Spalding Coleman, Matt J. Winn, Charles F. Lucas, P. H. Callahan and D. F. Murphy composed the Reception Committee.

OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER.

That old-fashioned mother—one in all the world, the law of whose life was love; one who was the divinity of our infancy and the sacred presence in the shrine of our first earthly worship; one whose heart is far below the frost that gathers so thickly on her brow; one to whom we never grow old, but in the manhood's strength or the grave council are children still; one who welcomed us coming, blest us going and never forgets us—never. And when in some chest, some drawer, some corner, she finds a garment or a toy that once was ours, how does she weep as she thinks we may be suffering or sad. Does the battle of life drift the wanderer to the old homestead at last? Her hand is upon his shoulder; her dim and faded eyes are kindled with something of "the light of other days" as she gazes upon his brow. "Be of stout heart, my son. No harm can reach you here." But sometimes that armchair is set against the wall; the corner is vacant or another's; and they seek the dear old occupant in the graveyard. God grant you never have. Pray God, I never will.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Spring biliousness is the natural result of winter gourmandizing.

A hot bath is the time-honored remedy for a child in convulsions.

Coldness of feet and limbs is almost invariably an evidence of indigestion.

Lemon juice will remove dandruff, and is good for the scalp.

Neuralgia is the "cry" of a hungry nerve for better blood.

Good furniture polish is made of one-third turpentine and two-thirds sweet oil.

Parsley eaten with vinegar will remove the unpleasant effect that onions have on the breath.

Clothespins boiled a few minutes and quickly dried once or twice a month become more durable.

Always make starch with soapy water, which will give a better gloss to the linen and prevent the irons from sticking.

It is a good plan to burn pine tar occasionally in a sick room, as it is an excellent disinfectant, and it also induces sleep.

If sheets or tablecloths are wrung by putting the selva through the wringer the edges will not curl up and they will iron much easier.

A lamp expert recommends cheese-cloth for wiping lamps, and adds: Never use scissors to trim a wick. A visiting card is one of the best trimmers.

When anything has been spilled on the stove, or milk has boiled over and a suffocating smoke arises, sprinkle the spot with salt and it will quickly disappear.

One of the best remedies for obesity is to eat only one thing at a meal. It does not matter greatly what this one thing is, whether it is any one kind of fruit, or any one grain. The prescription is, eat one article only at one meal.

A trained nurse suggests substituting for the familiar powder puff used after the baby's bath a piece of absorbent cotton. Discard for a fresh piece as often as required.

ETIQUETTE.

A gentleman always rises from his chair when a lady enters or leaves the room.

On a man's visiting card only titles that indicate a rank or profession for life should be used.

At a ball one may not refuse a certain dance to one gentleman and then dance it with another.

A letter to a married woman is directed with her husband's name or initials and her own—as Mrs. Thomas R. Gibbs or Mrs. T. R. Gibbs.

On formal occasions no napkin rings appear on the table and the napkin is used but the once. At the home dinner the napkin, if not too soiled, should be placed in the ring to be used again at breakfast or luncheon.

In Loving Memory of Frank J. Lucey.
Died October 13, 1903.

TO MOTHER.

It's the 13th of October, mother,
Wipe those sad tears away,
Our own dear angel "Paddy"
Went to heaven one year today.

God loved him best, dear mother,
He said "suffer and come to me,"
While we suffer his loss alone,
We offer our cross to thee.

Let us take you to our hearts dear mother
And fill his place with pride,
We will please him mother darling
To have us at your side.

Together we will wander
Through the narrow aisles of strife,
Until our own dear "Paddy,"
Joins us in eternal life.

Resign us, our Heavenly Father,
To bear this cross with love,
And one day reunite us,
With him in heaven above.

FAVOR MERGER.

Division 1, A. O. H., Favors
Consolidation of the Four Divisions.

Division 1, of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, held a fairly well attended meeting Tuesday evening. The visiting committee reported Dan Sullivan and Patrolman John Dolan on the sick list. Quite a debate was held on the subject of merging the four local divisions into one large one, it being the nearly unanimous opinion of those present that the consolidation would be the best thing for the order. President Mike Tynan appointed James Barry, Peter Cusick and John Mulloy to visit the other three divisions and ascertain the different opinions and ideas on this subject. Dr. Charles Edeelen was chosen as medical examiner for the division.

WHAT THE WORLD WANTS.

Men who can not be bought.
Men who put character above wealth.
Men who see the divine in the common.

Men who will not lose their individuality in a crowd.
Men who will be as honest in small things as in great things.

Men whose ambitions are not confined to their own selfish desires.

Men who are not afraid to take chances, who are not afraid of failure.

Men who are larger than their business, who outstep their vocation.

Men who will not have one brand of honesty for business purposes and another for private life.

Statesmen who will not pack caucuses, pull wires or be influenced in their policy by personal motives.

Men who are true to their friends through good report and evil report, in adversity as well as prosperity.

Men who do not believe that shrewdness, sharpness, cunning and long-headedness are the best qualities for winning success.

Lawyers who will not persuade clients to bring suits merely to squeeze fees out of them when they know very well that they have no chance of winning.

There are three classes of women:
One—Women who want to be kissed.
Two—Women who do not want to be kissed.

Three—Women who look as though they would like to be kissed, but won't let men kiss them.

The first men kiss, the second they do not kiss, the third they marry.

MOODS OF THE MOON.

A clear moon indicates frost.

A dull-looking moon means rain.

A single halo around the moon indicates a storm.

If the moon looks high cold weather may be expected.

If the moon looks down warm weather is promised.

The new moon on her back always indicates wet weather.

A double halo around the moon means very boisterous weather.

OPENING DANCE.

The Nonpareil Club will inaugurate their fall and winter series with an opening dance at the New Athletic Club, Wednesday evening, October 26.

FATHER AND MOTHER.

They are left alone in the dear old home, After so many years.

When the house was full of frolic and fun, Of childish laughter and tears.

They are left alone! they two—once more! Beginning life over again,

Just as they did in the days of yore, Before they were nine or ten.

And the table is set for two these days; The children went one by one,

Away from home on their separate ways, When the childhood days were done.

How healthily hungry they need to be! What romping they need to do!

And mother—now weeping—can hardly see To set the table for two.

They used to gather around the fire While someone would read aloud;

But whether at study or work or play, 'Twas a loving and merry crowd.

And now they are two that gather there At evening to read or sew,

And it seems almost too much to bear When they think of the long ago.

Ah, well! ah, well! 'tis the way of the world! Children stay but a little while,

And then into other scenes are whirled, Where other homes beguile.

But it matters not how far they roam, Their hearts are fond and true,

And there's never a home like the dear old home, Where the table is set for two.

NEW COATS AND JACKETS

PRICED LESS THAN USUAL.

Why? Because we purchased a lot from an Eastern manufacturer who preferred to sell his entire remaining lot at a special price, than divide his orders into smaller quantities. The highest degree of fashion is subtly expressed and the best skilled workmanship has an honest imprint on every garment. Our good fortune makes it possible for every woman to have one of these smartly Tailored Coats—a coat that will wear, hold to its shape and top-notch in style.

Unmatchable in Value and Low Prices.

Castor Color Covert Cloth Jacket; new Tourist style with coat collar; sleeves with cuffs; half belt and satin-lined throughout. This nobly coat will look nice after strenuous wear and is suited for almost all occasions; an unequalled value at $5.98

Ladies' Black Cheviot Cloth Coat; half-fitting front and back with belt extending to the front; new sleeves with cuffs; heavy satin-lined throughout. The value of this stylishly designed coat is not less than $10; we sell it at the unusually little price $6.50

Mannish Cloth Tourist Coats for Ladies; three-quarter length, collarless neck and belt piped with satin; trimmed with fancy metal buttons; $7.50 would be no more than the style, not saying a word $5.98 about the service; our special low price

Ladies' Castor Color Covert Cloth Coat; ¾ length, plaited back with half belt; loose front with two breast and two outside pockets; sleeves have cuffs and deep facing down the front. This is an unusually good value for the price $8.98

Extra quality Tan Covert Cloth Coat; plaited back with belt; ¾ length and has collar; new sleeves with cuffs and satin-lined throughout. The making and designing of these coats call for a better price than $14.98 our little one, only

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General News Notes.

Washington Hibernians are urging the teaching of Irish history in all the district parochial schools.

The delegates from the various Providence divisions to the St. Patrick's day convention have met and organized.

There are forty divisions of the Ladies' Auxiliary in Suffolk county, which includes Boston. The membership is about 2,000.

Division 9 of St. Paul, the second or third largest in Minnesota, has the proud record of not having had a death in two years.

Utica Hibernians have already gone to work making preparations for the New York State convention to be held there in 1906.

The order is flourishing in Washington, and at the recent State convention the principal cities and towns were well represented.

Now that the cool evenings are with us, it is the duty of every member of the order to get new material for numerous initiations.

During the past two years the membership of the Buffalo divisions increased about 300, and two new divisions were organized in Erie county.

Buffalo Hibernians will have either Bishop Spalding or Bourke Cochran for the principal speaker at their annual Robert Emmet celebration.

The ladies' auxiliary will meet next Wednesday evening and a large attendance is expected, as important matters will come up for consideration.

Division 3 will meet Tuesday evening and President Quinn requests a large attendance, as the question of merging the four divisions will be discussed.

Division 2 of Manchester is perhaps the largest in New Hampshire, having 186 members in good standing and prospects for a good addition to that number.

Division 3 of Norfolk, Conn., is arranging for a hazard to be given the latter part of November. The first award is a free trip to Ireland for six weeks, with an allowance of $15 a week.

Division 2 are making arrangements for a big initiation at their meeting next Friday evening. President Con Ford invites the members of the other divisions to be present and assist in the work.

A public installation of county officers and Ladies' Auxiliary took place in Buffalo last Tuesday night. Members and their friends filled Stirling's Hall, and after the ceremonies there was dancing.

Congratulations were a little late, but nevertheless they were tendered President John Hennessy Wednesday evening because a little Hibernian had arrived at his home since the last meeting of Division 4.

Rev. John Moran, the energetic young priest recently appointed State Chaplain for Ohio, is assistant pastor of the Immaculate Conception church at Youngstown. He is an enthusiastic Hibernian and very popular among the members of the order.

A movement is on foot among the young men of St. Vincent de Paul's parish to organize another division in Syracuse. Quite a number have signified their intention to join as charter members and much enthusiasm is displayed. The division will be organized on lines following out the Hibernian club plan.

COMPLIMENTARY DANCE.

The Cordelia Club will open their fall and winter season with a complimentary dance on Tuesday evening, October 25, at Fountain Park. The committee in charge is composed of A. G. Heine, George Scholl, William Moore, H. G. Probst and Joseph P. Sittler.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our sincerest thanks to our friends and neighbors for the many tokens of sympathy shown us on the death of our loving mother, Mrs. Michael Pineson, and desire to return thanks to Rev. Father Lawler for his words of consolation, the pall-bearers and to the donors of the many beautiful floral tributes.

HOPKINS' THEATER.

Kitamura's troupe of Japanese will be the feature act on the bill at Hopkins' next week. There are a dozen or more Japanese men, boys and girls, who give a marvelous exhibition of gymnastic work on the stage.

Olive May and J. W. Albaugh, Jr., will present a comedy sketch, entitled "The Girl from Kansas." Howard and Bland will return to Louisville with their musical comedy, "A Strange Boy." Miss Henrietta Duke will make her first appearance here, and comes with a high recommendation for ability as a singer. Wahlund and Tekla will be seen in rare feats of strength, while Campbell and Johnson give a comedy bicycle act. The biograph will complete this strong bill.

MACAULEY'S.

Arnold Daly, with a strong company, will come to Macauley's next Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, with that brilliant comedy, "Candida." This play was one of New York's greatest dramatic successes last season, playing there for 160 nights.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

On September 15 an exhibition of fat cattle, roots, poultry, eggs and butter was held in the park grounds at Longford.

At a show held in Monaghan lately an exhibition of spinning was given by an old lady who had celebrated her 100th birthday.

The consecration of Most Rev. Dr. Mangan, as Bishop of Kerry, took place Sunday, September 18, in the cathedral at Killarney.

Three special trains conveyed two thousand Belfast Catholics from the Falls district to St. Patrick's Cathedral, Armagh, recently consecrated.

Rev. Dr. Fogarty, the new Bishop of Killarney, received a magnificent reception recently on the occasion of his first visit to his native parish, Neagh.

Belfast is erecting a Town Hall that will cost $1,500,000. Dublin is spending $2,000,000 in securing to the citizens the ownership of the electric lighting monopoly.

The Skreen and Dromore branch of the United Irish League have unanimously adopted the resolutions of the national directory, and pledged full support to the Irish party.

The death has occurred at a place called Clough, near Brosna, County Kerry, of a woman named Mrs. Roche, who attained the age of 107 years. Deceased, who led a most industrious life, was always vigorous and healthy and possessed her faculties practically up to the time of her death. Her reminiscences of the famine period of 'Black '47 and '48' were interesting and she could recount many episodes of the Fenian movement of '67. She was familiar with the personalities of many of the notable persons who prominently identified themselves with the movement.

A sad scene was witnessed in Clonmell recently, when the sheriff, assisted by bailiffs and constables, made five evictions on the estate of Sir Montagu Chapman. The first was Christopher Lynch, whose furniture was thrown on the roadside; the next was Bryan Sheridan, whose aged mother (eighty years) was put out in the roadside in a heavy downpour of rain. Michael Denning was next, and then James Gough, whose wife and child had died recently. In the fifth case, that of Thomas Chester, the sheriff was stopped by a physician's certificate saying Mrs. Chester was not able to be moved.

Irish papers of September 16 state that not for many years has there been such a rush of emigrants from the Castlerauld, Brea, Knocknagoel and East Kerry districts, as during the past few months. In the Broma districts, forty left during the past week. The contingents comprise young men and women between the ages of 18 and 27 years. The prepaid passage ticket and the cheap transatlantic fares are responsible for this exodus. Notwithstanding the admonitions and appeals of responsible persons in America and Ireland, both lay and clerical, regarding the evils and indiscretion of emigration, it is melancholy to observe the nation's lifeblood flowing copiously away.

MASONIC.

The Royal Lilliputians, in an entire new dress, will begin a week's engagement at the Masonic Theater with Monday matinee. This big musical production is a big favorite here and will doubtless play to crowded houses. On account of the meeting of the Kentucky Grand Lodge of Masons, matinees will be given Monday, Friday and Saturday instead of Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

BUCKINGHAM.

The famous Rentz-Santley Company will be the next attraction at the Buckingham. They will present a musical satire on Jules Verne's famous story, entitled "Looping the World." They have given this presentation an elaborate scenic and costumed production, interspersed with several bright and entertaining specialties.
